

Fou Fou le Blanc Selected "Best in Breed" by leading food blog Serious Eats

Posted by Kara Newman, July 9, 2010 at 1:30 PM

Best in Breed: White Wine Category

Fou Fou Le Blanc 2009 Sauvignon Blanc, from Mutt Lynch Winery

Cuteness: 5 (downright adorable)

Ranking: 5 (excellent)

The label shows a saucy cartoon dog, cavorting and wearing a beret. There's a bone on the screwtop cap. Even their marketing materials arrived secured with a paper clip in the shape of a bone. But the wine was fresh, fragrant with pear and lychee, light-bodied, crisp and refreshing. I would gladly drink this again.

All of the Mutt Lynch wines scored well, including the "Unleashed Chardonnay," the "Merlot Over and Play Dead," (the back label reads "Merlot over...bite me") and the "Canis Major" Zinfandel.

"... the wine was fresh, fragrant with pear and lychee, light-bodied, crisp and refreshing. I would gladly drink this again."

Kara Newman, Serious Eats

"Bark Less, Wag More!"

Brenda Lynch, Owner & Winemaker